

Study of Religion Colloquium:

“Rethinking Religion: Diasporas, Borderlands, Confluences”

How is the intellectual, demographic, and inner terrain of "religion" changing around us, under our feet, and within our very identities? Jacob Olupona, Michael Jackson, and Diana Eck will jump-start the discussion with a few minutes of our own reflections. Each is teaching a course this term that deals, in some way, with the question of diasporas, borderlands, and confluences. We hope that you will come with your own thoughts and questions for a lively discussion!

 Wednesday, November 28 ***

7:00 p.m.

Kresge Room, Barker Center

Faculty and students in the Study of Religion, are warmly invited to come. Since it is at the end of the day, we'll have pizza and some refreshments as we gather. For those who have been to the annual meetings of the American Academy of Religion and the Society for Biblical Literature, let's hear the highlights from your perspective.
