

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

College of Arts and Sciences

Department of Psychology

Assistant Professor of Clinical Psychology, Tenure Track

Department: College of Arts and Sciences, Department of Psychology, Clinical Area, Eugene, OR

Apply via Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/11561>

Application deadline: October 16, 2018, position open until filled.

Required Application Materials

Candidates are asked to apply on line at www.academicjobsonline.org by submitting a cover letter, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, three representative publications, and three statements: (1) research accomplishments and future plans, (2) teaching experience and approach, and (3), personal contributions to foster an environment of equity and inclusion for faculty, staff, and students from diverse backgrounds.

Our department embraces the values of open and reproducible science, and candidates are encouraged to address (in their statements and/or cover letter) how they have pursued and/or plan to pursue these goals in their work.

Position Announcement

The University of Oregon's Department of Psychology invites applications for a tenure-track position for an Assistant Professor in Clinical Psychology to begin in fall 2019. Clinical areas of interest include adult psychopathology, developmental psychopathology, neuroimaging, prevention, intervention, and implementation science, or a combination of these areas. Candidates whose research programs focus on cultural factors in mental health, cultural adaptations of interventions, health and mental health disparities in marginalized communities, and/or multicultural contexts are especially encouraged to apply. We seek candidates who integrate clinical work and training with an ongoing program of research and who demonstrate excellence in teaching diverse students at the graduate and undergraduate levels. We particularly welcome applications from scholars who are from populations historically underrepresented in the academy, and/or who have experience working with diverse populations.

FULL ANNOUNCEMENT:

<http://careers.uoregon.edu/cw/en-us/job/522382/assistant-professor-of-psychology>

Minimum Requirements

Assistant Professor Level: PhD degree in Psychology or related field in hand by time of appointment, demonstrated potential for teaching and research excellence, and a record of scholarly accomplishment that includes publication in high quality academic journals in psychology and/or related fields.

The ability to obtain, or work towards, Licensure in the State of Oregon is strongly preferred. Salary is competitive.

Preferred Qualifications

Competitive applicants will have an established research profile, peer-reviewed publications, external funding experience, and a proven record of teaching experience.

The successful candidate will demonstrate an ability to teach in ways that value the varied learning needs and interests of a culturally diverse student population and that reflect a commitment to encouraging the success of all students.

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY

1227 University of Oregon, Eugene OR 97403-1227 T (541) 346-4921

<http://www.uoregon.edu> An equal-opportunity, affirmative-action institution committed to cultural diversity and compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act