

Clinical Research Coordinator Position

Boston University Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy (CTE)

Boston University School of Medicine

We are seeking a talented individual to play a major role in a new, NIH-funded, multicenter clinical research project. This project is aimed at developing methods of diagnosing CTE during life.

Position is expected to begin Fall 2015 (pending funding)
Minimum 2 year commitment

Appropriate for applicants who have a master's degree, or uniquely qualified bachelor's level applicants.

Should have background in one or more of the following areas: neuroscience, neuropsychology, public health, sports medicine/ psychology or neurodegenerative diseases.

Experience in clinical research Desired

Exceptional leadership, organizational, and interpersonal skills Required

To apply, please e-mail a cover letter and resume to:

Nicole Gullotti, Assistant to Dr. Robert Stern

ngullott@bu.edu

References will be requested and an in-person interview will be scheduled for top applicants only